

Kittchen

The car built to stay young.

Kitten

Economy that goes on and on.

Real motoring economy means the highest possible mpg and the lowest possible running cost. To achieve lowest possible running cost you need to start with the very best materials and techniques. So that you can be sure of getting an economy car that lasts.

And that's how we designed the Kitten.

It gives every other economy car a new set of standards to contend with. The Kitten has a new 850cc version of the famous Reliant lightweight aluminium engine – well known for its long life and petrol economy.

With careful driving, the Kitten gives you up to 60 mpg or more.

On the test circuit, the Kitten returned 70 mpg at a constant 40 miles per hour. And 60 mpg at a constant 50 miles per hour.

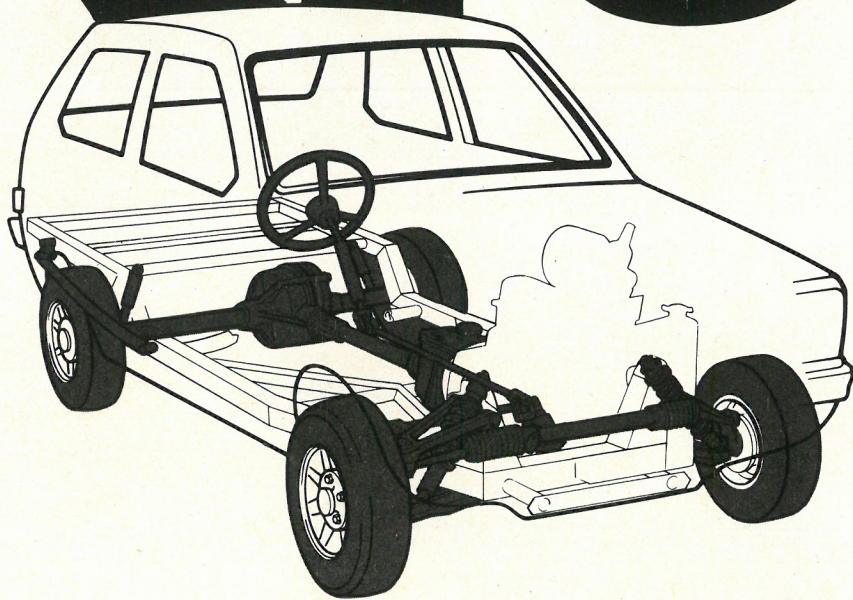

The Kitten's body is designed for economy too.

The body is of hand-built glassfibre mounted onto a strong, steel chassis – something you don't find on many cars these days. And because its remarkably tough body is made of glassfibre it can't ever rust. Rain, sleet or snow won't wash away your Kitten's good looks or its resale value.

The Kitten is hand-sprayed with eight coats of paint to ensure an excellent finish for an outstanding economy car.

Kitten

You'll enjoy its handling as much as its economy.

The Kitten's lively 850cc engine will give you a top speed of around 80 miles per hour and the car will cruise happily at 60 miles per hour.

Its steering is light and positive and you'll enjoy the small, sporty steering wheel.

Radial tyres enhance the already excellent road holding and handling.

It's probably the easiest car of any type to park, with a turning circle less than that of a London taxi.

And the Kitten's suspension has been so designed to ensure a smooth ride and maximum comfort on almost every kind of road surface.

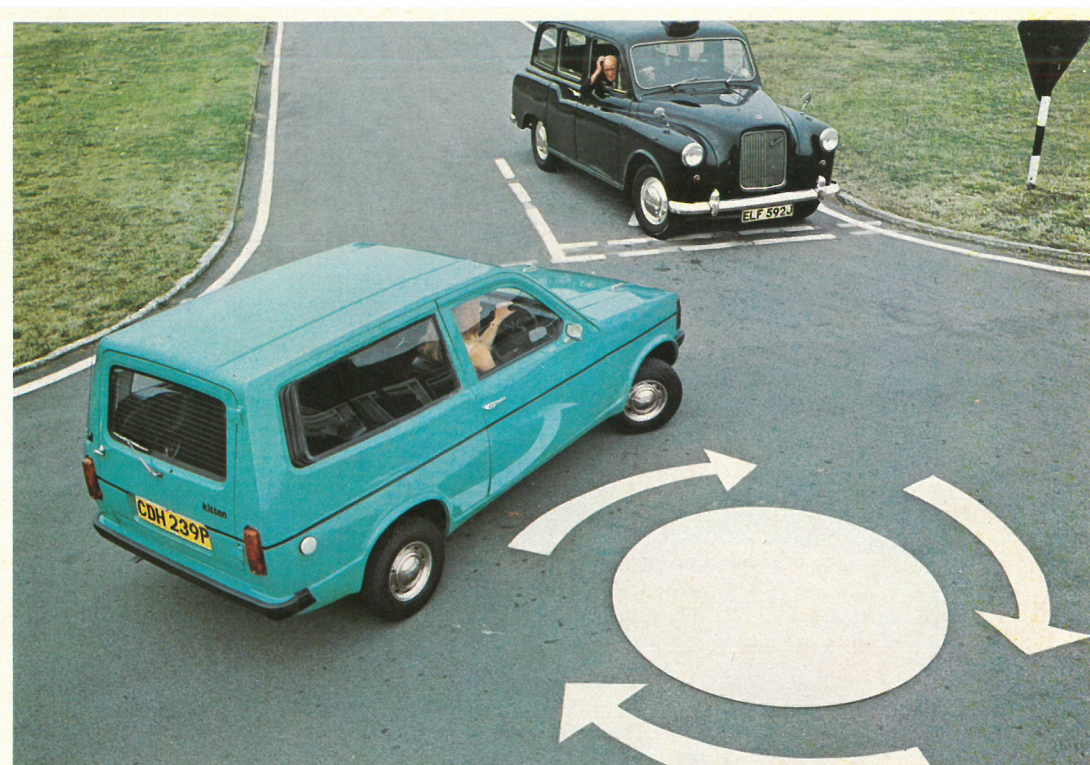

If the Kitten looks good on the outside wait till you get inside.

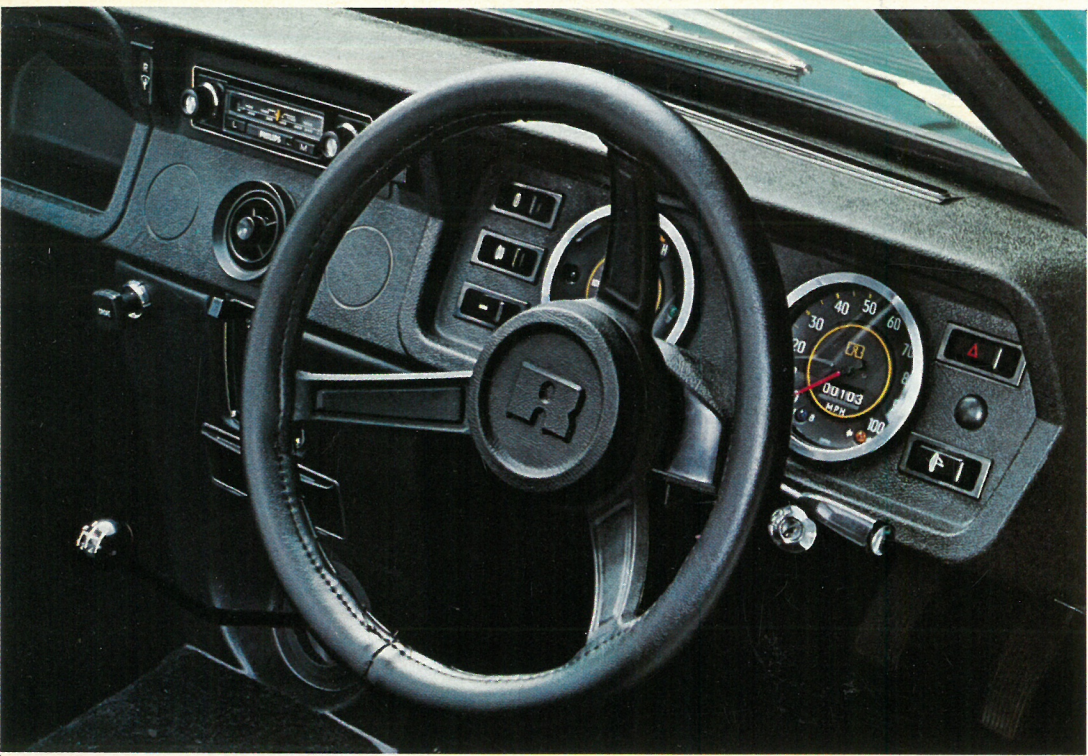

You can choose from black or tan upholstery with matching deep pile door-to-door carpeting.

The headliner is a cool grey.

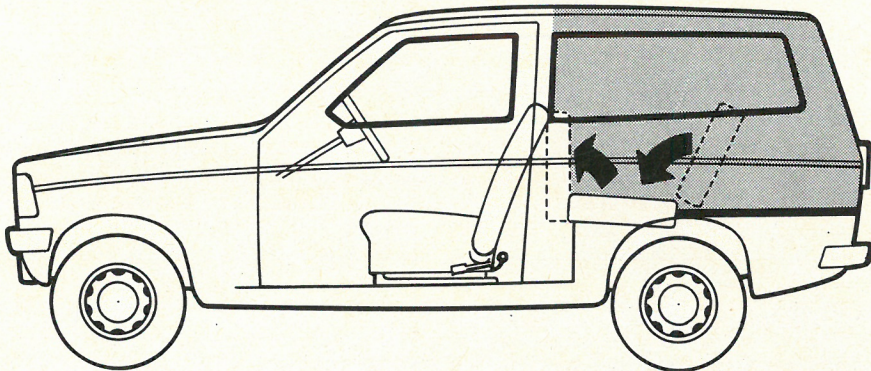

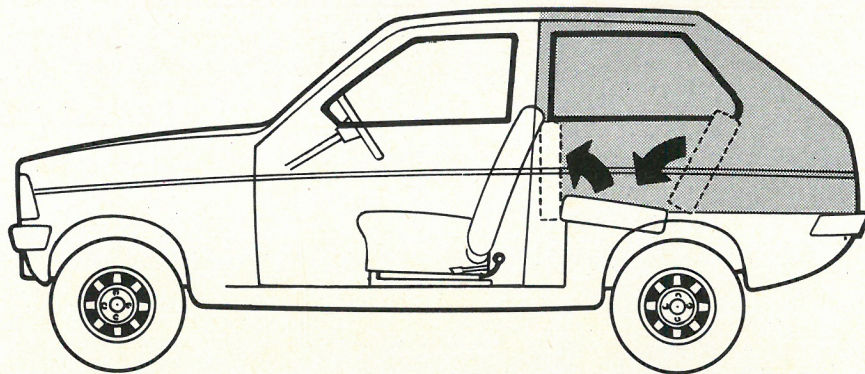

With the Kitten we haven't skimped on comfort or luxury.

So now you can have a luxury car you can well afford to run.

Kitten

It's the little things that make all the difference.

In the Kitten we offer you exceptional economy, lively performance and unexpected luxury. But that's not all.

We've lots of useful features to make your motoring even more enjoyable.

The sporty fascia has easy to read dials.

The Kitten's doors are extremely wide opening for easy access. The saloon has a useful rear opening window and a self-lifting tonneau cover.

One of the Kitten's most practical features is its versatility. Even with four adults there is still room for $8\frac{1}{2}$ cubic feet of luggage in the saloon and $9\frac{1}{2}$ cubic feet in the estate.

Fold down the back seat of the saloon and you've got a staggering 30 cubic feet. And in the estate you get a whole 40 cubic feet.

Feel the seats. They're fabric covered for extra comfort. And the driver's seat reclines to vary your driving position.

A rear window wash/wipe system is available as an optional extra for the wide rear door on the estate car version.

Anti-burst door locks and hinges are a standard all round. And the collapsible steering column assembly conforms to European safety regulations.

So you see the Kitten is not just another economy car. It's the economy car with the accent on giving you more of a car.
